

I am offended at the NAB effort to control what is being provided as a paid service by XM Satellite Radio in the form of weather information in selected cities. Most recently, I was driving to the Tampa area from my home and was able to tune to the Tampa weather channel to check on both weather conditions and, most importantly, traffic conditions as I drove across the Panhandle and the southward toward the Tampa Bay area.

Please so not allow the broadcast media to determine who may provide weather and traffic information. Remember, we are in a high hurricane area, and being able to check with both Tampa and Miami is important with this service. I don't need to search through multiple stations that provide bad rock music to try to find the information I need. In response to the NAB, you should just say "NO!" jd
